

DOUG MOSS

Doug Moss was born and raised in Michigan. He graduated from Adrian College, Adrian, Michigan in May, 1969 with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree and received a Masters from Eastern Michigan University in 1972. He is married to Judy Doherty Moss and they have two grown children, Ryan and Sarah.

In 1977, he began executive management experience in the homebuilding industry for Ryland Homes. In 1980, Mr. Moss joined Pulte Homes as Land Vice President for the opening of the Dallas, Texas Division. He was promoted to Division President responsible for opening Pulte in Austin and San Antonio. In 1990, Mr. Moss began and operated a custom homebuilding company in the Austin area until 1995 when he joined Morrison Homes and became Senior Vice President for the Southwest Region. While at Morrison Homes, Mr. Moss was responsible for creating operating divisions in Austin, Dallas, and Houston. As Senior Vice President, his responsibilities also included the approval of all land submissions for either self-development or lot purchase agreements in Texas submitted to the corporate land committee. He was also a member of the Corporate Morrison Homes Leadership Team with responsibilities for corporate operational decisions related to the 11 operating divisions in the United States. Morrison is actively building over 1000 homes in 43 communities throughout the three Texas Markets. Mr. Moss retired from Morrison Homes December 2004 to pursue other real estate interests in Austin.

Mr. Moss joined Carr Development, Inc. in 2004 to add his expertise in the homebuilding industry to the wealth of commercial development knowledge contributed by Ken and Scott Carr.
